Landsberg Sworn in as GNWPCD Commissioner

Great Neck, NY (January 8, 2018) – The Great Neck Water Pollution Control District announced today that Jerry Landsberg has been sworn-in for a fourth term as Commissioner, following his successful reelection on December 5, 2017. Landsberg was sworn in alongside fellow commissioners Steve Reiter and Patty Katz at a recent Board of Commissioners meeting.

“All of us at the District are thrilled to have Jerry’s leadership, experience and guidance for another term as we continue to make decisions aimed at providing first-class service to our residents at the lowest possible cost,” stated Commissioner Reiter. “Together, the Board of Commissioners will make investments that will better serve the community and continue to position the District as a regional leader in wastewater management.”

During Landsberg’s most recent term, he spearheaded numerous initiatives and technological advancements. Landsberg proved vital in helping secure two $50,000 grants enabling District headquarters to be ADA compliant and advocated for environmentally friendly and cost-effective projects. These included a microturbine, co-generation facility and grease receiving station. This helped make the Great Neck Water Pollution Control District one of the most environmentally friendly operations in the country.

“It’s an honor that the residents of Great Neck have put their trust in me to serve another term,” stated Commissioner Landsberg. “I want to once again thank the entire community for their continued support and look forward to the successful years ahead.”
